

2015

New Years marks a new beginning. New people to meet, new adventures to enjoy and new memories to create. It's a day for fresh start, new chapter in life waiting to be written. Along with all the new hopes and promises that the new year would bring happiness and joy.

LIGHT - 'the natural agent that stimulates sight and makes things visible'... the light of sun

Right from the day of existence of humans natural lighting has its own certainty. With the growing population and need of human, demand for energy is more and utilization of artificial lighting is increasing.

This year based on light and light based technologies aims to raise awareness of the achievements of light science and its applications, and its importance to humankind.

This calendar is an assortment of concepts which illustrates the step towards energy consciousness. This opportunity is to inspire and educate people about natural light and its importance.
